How do I . . . Find a Journal?

From the Library's home page, under Find click on Journals.

This will take you to the screen where you can Find a specific journal by its title or ISSN (International Standard Serial Number), Search by DOI (Digital Object Identifier), Browse journals by title, Browse journals by subject or Search for keywords in e-journals.

In the box Title begins with, type in the title of your journal. Let’s try Newsweek.
A search for the title Newsweek brings up a list of all databases that hold this item and the years that are covered. The first item on the list, UTPA Holdings, indicates whether the Library has a physical copy of the item. For Newsweek, the Library has from 07/01/1939 to 12/23/2002.

If you need additional help finding a Journal, please contact the Reference desk at (956) 665-2752 or by chat, email, etc.